SIXTY-THREE DEAD

Terrible Wreck of a Through Passenger Train on the B. & O. Road Near Dawson, Pa.

THIRTY PERSONS WERE INJURED.

The Killed Were Literally Roasted to Death by Steam Escaping From the Locomotive.

Baggage Car and Smoker Telescoped the Engine, Immediately Catching Fire—Some of the Bodies Burned to a Crisp.

Connellsville, Pa., Dec. 24.—With a terrific crash and a grinding noise, the Duquesne limited, the fastest through passenger train from Pittsburg to New York on the Baltimore & Ohio ploughed into a pile of lumber at Laurel Run, two miles west of Dawson, at 7:45 o'clock Wednesday evening and it is estimated that 63 lives were lost and 30 persons were injured. The train left Pittsburg Wednesday evening, running a few minutes late, in charge of Engineer William Thornley, of Connellsville. When approaching Laurel Run, which is a particularly fine piece of roadbed, the train was running at a high rate of speed. Suddenly the passengers were thrown from their seats by the lightning-like application of the air brakes and a moment later there was a terrible crash.

Cars Torn to Pieces.

The train was made up of two baggage, two day coaches, one sleeper, and one dining car, and was carrying at the time, at the lowest estimate, 150 passengers. The train ploughed along for a considerable distance and the cars were torn to pieces, passengers jumping, screaming, falling from the wreck as it tore along. Suddenly the engine swerved to the left and the coaches plunged down over the embankment to the edge of the Youghiogheny river. The minute the cars stopped rolling there was a wild scene. Many were pinioned beneath the wreckage and the screams and cries that rent the air were beyond description. Many were injured in their mad excitement and plunged into the river. Others, pinioned beneath the heavy timbers, pleaded in agonized tones for release. So terrific was the force of the wreck that nearly every passenger suffered a moment's unconsciousness and many of the able-bodied men were unable to assist in helping the injured from the wreck on account of having fainted.

Most of the Killed Were Foreigners.

The killed, most of them, were foreigners, who were in the smoker, just back of the baggage car. They were literally roasted alive, the baggage car and smoker telescoping the engine and immediately catching fire. Their bodies are lying, many of them burned to a crisp, in the baggage room of the Baltimore & Ohio depot, to be removed later to the different undertaking shops in the city. The entire population has turned out en masse to assist in caring for the living.

The official statement of Superintendent W. C. Lorrie follows:

"No. 12 was derailed by running into some switch timbers, or timbers of about that size, derailing the engine and all cars. All the cars are badly damaged. Do not think any of the equipment will be able to go away from the accident on their own wheels, except possibly the Pullman cars and the diner."

The Cause of the Wreck.

The wreck was caused by the breaking of the castings on a carload of bridge timbers, on a west-bound freight train, which had passed Laurel Run not more than 15 minutes before the ill-fated passenger train. The wreck occurred on a curve and it was impossible for Engineer Thornley to see far enough ahead to detect the obstruction on the tracks. The big Atlantic type engine plunged into the timbers at a velocity of 60 miles an hour. The engine ploughed into the embankment and the baggage and express car were thrown into the Youghiogheny river. The smoker was packed to its utmost capacity and all the passengers were cooked alive. Not a single passenger in this car escaped with his life and it is estimated that at least 40 of the dead were in the smoker.

A Heroic Baggage-master.

Baggage-master Thomas J. Baum, of Hazelwood, who was on the wrecked train, proved himself a hero. With his head and body frightfully cut he managed to crawl from the wreckage and, groping his way along in darkness, flagged the west-bound passenger train No. 49. He had nothing with which to flag the train except matches and these he made use of in his desperation, by taking off his coat and setting fire to it. He stopped the train just in time to prevent it from plunging into the wreck and adding further horror to an already indescribable disaster.

HAZARDS OF RAILWAY LIFE.

In Pennsylvania During Last Year There Were 15,382 Casualties.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 24.—Hazards of railroad life are sharply emphasized in the annual report of Maj. I. B. Brown, secretary of the department of internal affairs, in which a parallel is drawn between the casualties among railroad employees in this state during the last year and the union losses on some of the greatest battlefields of the civil war. The casualties among steam railway employees in Pennsylvania for the year covered by the report were 15,382. The combined figures for the steam and street railways show a greater number of casualties during the year "than occurred to the union army in any one of the great battles of the civil war." The figures of the street railways follow:

During the year the number of passengers killed was 41 and injured 1,727; of the employees of the street railway corporation 21 were killed and 252 injured; of other persons 165 were killed and 1,090 injured, making the total number of fatal accidents on the lines of these corporations 227 and the total number of non-fatal 3,059.

TRAINS CAME TOGETHER.

One Killed, One Fatally Injured and Others Hurt.

Morris, Ala., Dec. 24.—Second section of through train No. 3, of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, running one hour and fifteen minutes late, collided head-on with the Decatur accommodation train No. 8, a quarter of a mile south of here, Wednesday afternoon.

Williamson, express messenger, Nashville, bruises all over the body; 15 others, including slightly injured. Among those slightly injured is Mrs. Laura Voyles, Macon, Ill. The south-bound train overran its orders. Engineer Wright remained at his post. His skull was fractured and he will die.

PANAMA CANAL TREATY.

Senator Hale, of Maine, Thinks It Will Be Ratified.

Washington, Dec. 24.—Senator Hale, of Maine, in an interview with a reporter, said he thought the Panama canal treaty would be ratified. He added:

"I do not like the situation and am afraid it will involve us in an expensive and profitless war, but I have seen no way from the beginning, except to ratify the treaty and make the best of it."

"Our government moved rather rapidly and with some precision when the insurrection broke out, but Colombia was holding us up and meant to rob us, and, as we were committed to the building of the canal by the United States, and as some kind of government had been set up in Panama we were compelled to come to terms with that government, however quickly formed and however unsubstantial it might be."

GOV. TAFT SAILS.

He Was Given An Enthusiastic Farewell on Leaving Manila.

Manila, Dec. 24.—Gov. Taft was given an enthusiastic farewell Thursday. A military guard of honor escorted him from the palace to the Luneta, where from a stand he reviewed the parade of 5,000 troops who were followed by a procession of civilian employees, accompanied by a dozen bands. Thousands lined the line of march. Many delegations came from the outside provinces. Scores of boats accompanied Gov. Taft's launch to the steamer on which the governor sailed at midnight.

A FIGHT TO A FINISH

All Efforts Looking to a Settlement of the Drivers' Strike by Conciliation Abandoned.

POLICE TO ACCOMPANY FUNERALS

Should They Fail to Maintain Order the Sheriff Will Be Called Upon For Protection.

Should That Measure Fail the Governor Will Be Appealed to to Supply Militiamen—Serious Trouble Is Predicted.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—The struggle between the Liverymen's and Undertakers' association and the Livery Drivers' union, which for the past six days had seriously interfered with the burial of Chicago's dead, as no hearses or carriages have been available for funerals, is to be a fight to the finish, all efforts looking to a settlement of the strike by conciliation having been abandoned Wednesday night. For the past two days the prospects for a settlement by arbitration seemed bright, but Wednesday the contending parties drifted farther apart than ever and all peace negotiations have been declared off by the employers.

At a meeting of the employers affected by the strike it was decided to open for business Thursday morning on "the open shop" principle and employ union or non-union men. Before this decision was reached arrangements were made to petition one of the circuit judges the first thing Thursday morning for an injunction restraining the strikers from interfering with the business of the employers. The conservative element at the meeting worked hard to prevent the opening of the stables, but was defeated. The conservatives proposed to make overtures to the strikers on an arbitration basis. This was not given heed by the more radical element. The union officials predict trouble when the "open shop" plan is tried.

In anticipation of opposition by the union the employers Wednesday night called upon Chief of Police O'Neill for further police protection against violence and picketing. In reply Chief O'Neill said: "The police have been ordered to extend you the utmost protection in carrying on funerals. If you experience the slightest trouble call up the nearest police station and if that does not help, call me up."

Chief O'Neill's plan is to have policemen accompany all funerals in cabs. Members of the association said Wednesday night that should the police fail to maintain order the sheriff would be called upon for protection and should that measure fail the governor would be appealed to to supply militiamen.

A SWEEING INJUNCTION.

Striking Employees of An Iron Plant in West Duluth Enjoined.

Duluth, Minn., Dec. 24.—Striking employees at the National Iron Co.'s plant in West Duluth and officers and members of Iron Molders' union have been enjoined from picketing the plant or interfering in any way with the company's business. The injunctive order issued by Judge Dibel also restrains the strikers and union men from interfering with the purchase of supplies and necessities of life by the workmen employed, or from intimidating or threatening housekeepers for the purpose of preventing the men from getting lodging and board. The union is restrained from dictating to the company what wages it shall pay, what shall constitute a day's work, or from interfering in any way with the National Iron Co.'s business.

WAS REFUSED BAIL

James Gillespie, Indicted For the Murder of His Sister, Remanded to Jail.

BARBOUR WAS RELEASED ON BOND

Bail Was Furnished For Mrs. Barbour and Mrs. Seward in the Sum of $7,500 Each.

Next Term of Court Will Open in Rising Sun on the First Monday in March—No Change of Venue.

Rising Sun, Ind., Dec. 24.—Efforts to admit Myron Barbour, Mrs. Barbour and Mrs. Seward to bail were successful Wednesday morning. They were released, but James Gillespie, the indicted principal in the conspiracy to murder his twin sister, Elizabeth Gillespie, was refused bail and remanded to jail. Bail was furnished Myron Barbour in the sum of $20,000. Mrs. Barbour and Mrs. Seward were each released on $7,500 bond. Circuit Judge Downey at 10:30 Wednesday morning adjourned court until next term, which will open in Rising Sun on the first Monday in March.

Capt. John B. Coles, counsel for the defendants, said Wednesday that he would ask for no change of venue unless circumstances at the time of the trial compelled it and unless the feeling against James Gillespie was too strong. The defendants secured bail because of the habeas corpus proceedings which were brought immediately after their arrest Tuesday. The defense and prosecution compromised by remanding Jim Gillespie to jail until March and allowing the others bail. Some of the most influential citizens in town went on the bonds as sureties.

Jim Gillespie and Myron Barbour spent the night in jail under increased guard, which was asked for by Barbour. There was no attempt at any violence, but Barbour did not rest well. Dr. Gillespie visited him several times and gave him medicine. Jim Gillespie had no trouble in sleeping. The courthouse was crowded to the doors when the indicted prisoners were brought into join the rest of the party. While efforts were being made to secure bond for them the defendants held many long talks together in a corner of the courtroom. Myron Barbour has enlisted the sympathy of a good part of the people, but the sentiment against Jim Gillespie is strong. The circuit court, whether in Rising Sun or Lawrenceburg next term, will see one of the most sensational and hardest fought trials ever known in Indiana.

GROUND TO PIECES.

School Boy Meets a Horrible Death Under a C. and O. Train at Augusta.

Reynolds Ward, aged fourteen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ward, of Bracken County, met a terrible fate at Augusta Wednesday afternoon.

The unfortunate lad has been attending school in Augusta, some member of the family driving in for him in the afternoon, and he was in the habit of jumping westbound C. and O. freight trains and riding three or four squares to the point where the conveyance would be in waiting for him. Wednesday as his school dismissed for the holidays, a train came along and he made the attempt to board it, but missed his footing and was literally ground to pieces beneath the wheels. The mangled remains were strewn along the track, the largest portion of the body found being a part of one leg. It was a horrible fate, but it won't keep other foolhardy boys from making just such attempts as resulted in young Ward's death.

Ward's father is in feeble health, and has been in Colorado some time.

The judgment of the court in an action for trespass, alleging that on three separate occasions the defendant had torn down the fence which plaintiff had erected on his own land, and in which the title to the land in question was put in issue by the answer of the defendant, in favor of the plaintiff, may be successfully pleaded as res adjudicata by the plaintiff in an equitable action instituted by him to enjoin the defendant from removing his fencing and from interfering with his use and occupation of the land in controversy.

RAILROAD EXTENSION.

Right of Way Being Secured For Road to Connect With Fleming's Narrow Gauge.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Dec. 22.—Henry L. Martin, of Cleveland, O., a leading capitalist and promoter, has been in this section for several days trying to secure the right of way for a new railroad between Hillsboro, Fleming County, and Salt Lick, Bath County. The road will connect with the F. and A. at the former place and with the C. and O. at Salt Lick. The road will be twenty-eight miles in length and traverse a rich territory. Cincinnati capitalists are behind the venture and the cash is at hand to build the road. Surveyors will be put to work as soon as the weather will permit. The road will cost about $9,000 per mile.

This may mean much to Maysville and again it may not. The road starting at Salt Lick is to be extended to the coal fields in Eastern Kentucky. With the gap between Salt Lick and Hillsboro finished, there would be only the short gap between Johnson Junction and Maysville to be constructed to bring the line in touch with the Ohio River and Columbus road extending from Aberdeen to Columbus and connecting there with the net work of roads leading East and West.

The BULLETIN pointed out the advantages of such a railway system early last spring, and it may be that capitalists are quietly at work along the line of the suggestion then made. If so, it means much for Maysville in the near future.

TO OUR PATRONS AND THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL:

The indications strongly point to the best holiday trade we have enjoyed for many years. The inducements we are holding out in prices, considering the class of goods we carry, must appeal to the intelligent people. Did they not, the public would not flock to our store as they do.

We need not again enumerate the elegant, sensible and useful lines of merchandise suitable for Christmas presents.

Our window displays tell that story better than we can tell it in the newspapers.

We ask our friends, and particularly those near home, not to defer their shopping in our line until the last day or two before the holidays. It is always best to avoid the rush incident to the last two or three days before Christmas.

In the last twenty-four hours we received a new supply of Choice Mufflers and Gloves. We call particular attention to them on account of their elegance.

We give Globe Trading Stamps.
